Conference

“One health and protection of coasts: ecological and legal issues”

Rome (Museo Nazionale Romano, Teatro di Palazzo Altemps, Piazza di Sant'Apollinare, 46), 3 October 2025 (10-17.00)

CONCEPT NOTE

The international conference on “One health and protection of coasts: ecological and legal issues” aims to create a dialogue among lawyers (professor, legal experts, policy makers, etc.) and scientists (medical experts, biologists, ecologists, etc.) on the increasingly important topic of the protections of the coasts, especially taking into account the links between the many ecological, medical, environmental, animal and human issues and problems that are strictly interconnected. The application of the “One health” approach will be envisaged as a tool to develop more coherent political and legal decisions. The Conference will also take account of the results of the ongoing PRIN PNRR project “From Beaches to Coasts: towards an Integrated Protection of the Coasts – BeProCoasts”.

The Conference is organized by the Institute for Global Health Emergencies Response (IGHER) of the European Public Law Organization (<https://www1.eplo.int/igher>) and the Law Department of the University of Urbino Carlo Bo (<https://digiur.uniurb.it/>), in cooperation with the OneHealthConference (<https://onehealthconference.it/>) and the Global Pandemic Network (<https://www.globalpandemicnetwork.org/>).

The conference is also a “side event” of the OneHealthConference on “Integral Ecology as a light to advance the One Health Vision” which will be held in Rome (at the Campus Bio-Medico) on 30 September – 2 October 2025.

The conference will be primarily financed by the Law Department of the University of Urbino Carlo Bo and the European Public Law Organization.
